

Shopify chargeback evidence checklist: Credit not processed

Reason shown on your chargeback: Credit not processed. The customer says they returned the product or canceled the order and never got their money back.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the customer was owed a refund, and if so whether you gave it before they went to the bank.

Do first

- Contact the customer. Shopify's help says you can't refund a chargeback after the chargeback process has started. For an inquiry where the funds have not been taken yet, it says a refund is possible but not recommended. You may be able to explain the situation or find another way to solve it.
- If you resolve it, the customer should ask their bank to drop the chargeback, and you send that agreement as evidence.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- ☐ The refund transaction record: timestamps, amount, confirmation number (matters most)
- ☐ Evidence I refunded the customer before the chargeback or inquiry was made (matters most)
- ☐ My refund and return policy, with the terms the customer agreed to at checkout (matters most)
- ☐ An explanation of why the customer was not entitled to a refund (matters most)
- ☐ A bank or processor statement showing when the refund was processed
- ☐ Messages with the customer about the refund
- ☐ Return tracking, if a return is involved

Also check

- If you did refund, attach the refund record with the date and amount. Refunds can take days to reach a customer's statement, so say when you issued it.

Mistakes to avoid

- Saying the customer was refunded without a record that shows the date and amount.
- Refunding again during an open chargeback. Shopify's help says you can't refund a chargeback after the process has started.
- Fighting when a refund really was owed and never paid. Accepting may be the right call.
- Describing a policy but not showing where the customer saw it.

Reminders from Shopify Help

- The due date is 7 to 21 days after the chargeback or inquiry is filed. It shows in your store's timezone, and if no time is shown the deadline is 11:59 PM on that date.
- Shopify automatically collects evidence and sends it to the credit card company on the due date. Adding your own evidence can improve your chances.
- You can edit your evidence at any time before the due date. After you click Submit now you cannot edit it.
- After the due date you cannot submit further evidence. Shopify's help says there are no exceptions.
- The credit card company's review can take up to 75 days after you submit. After the bank or card company rules, Shopify's help says there is no appeal and the decision is final.
