

Shopify chargeback evidence checklists: all six reasons

One page for each reason Shopify shows on a chargeback. Open the chargeback in your admin first: it shows the reason and your due date.

Pick your reason

1. Fraudulent and Unrecognized	The cardholder says they did not authorize the charge, or do not recognize your store name on their statement.	page 2
2. Product not received	The customer told their bank they did not receive what they bought.	page 3
3. Product unacceptable	The customer says what arrived was defective, damaged or not as you described it.	page 4
4. Subscription canceled	The customer says you billed them for a subscription after it should have been canceled, or that they expected a reminder before the charge.	page 5
5. Duplicate	The customer thinks you charged them twice for the same product or service.	page 6
6. Credit not processed	The customer says they returned the product or canceled the order and never got their money back.	page 7

Dates and deadlines

- The due date is 7 to 21 days after the chargeback or inquiry is filed. It shows in your store's timezone, and if no time is shown the deadline is 11:59 PM on that date.
- Shopify automatically collects evidence and sends it to the credit card company on the due date. Adding your own evidence can improve your chances.
- You can edit your evidence at any time before the due date. After you click Submit now you cannot edit it.
- After the due date you cannot submit further evidence. Shopify's help says there are no exceptions.
- The credit card company's review can take up to 75 days after you submit. After the bank or card company rules, Shopify's help says there is no appeal and the decision is final.
- You can also accept a chargeback without submitting evidence, with Accept chargeback in the chargeback banner.

Evidence file rules

- Only PDF, JPEG or PNG files. PDFs must be PDF/A compliant, must not be PDF Portfolios, and must have fewer than 50 pages.
- Each file must not exceed 2 MB, and all your evidence files together must not exceed 4 MB.
- Submit only one file for each type of evidence. Combine several files into one image or PDF.
- Do not include audio or video files, links to external resources, or requests to call or email for more information.

Before you write anything

Never state anything you cannot prove. Every sentence in the response should point to a file you can attach. Delete any line you have no file for.

Shopify's help says some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network, and that disputes from third-party payment providers such as PayPal Express Checkout may follow different processes and timelines. Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the admin, not a number from any article.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

All six reasons online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

1. Fraudulent or unrecognized

Reason shown on your chargeback: Fraudulent and Unrecognized. The cardholder says they did not authorize the charge, or do not recognize your store name on their statement.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the person who owns the card made, or agreed to, this purchase. It is not mainly about whether the goods arrived.

Do first

- Try to contact the customer first. Shopify's help notes the customer may have forgotten the purchase, or a spouse, friend or family member may have made it.
- If the customer agrees the charge was justified, they should tell their bank they want to drop the chargeback. Still submit your evidence, including the statement where they said they would drop it.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- ☐ AVS and CVV results that matched (order risk details) (matters most)
- ☐ An IP address and country at checkout that fit this customer (matters most)
- ☐ A 3D Secure authentication record (matters most)
- ☐ Earlier orders from the same customer, email, address or card that were not disputed (matters most)
- ☐ Messages where the customer acknowledges the order (matters most)
- ☐ The billing details the customer entered
- ☐ Tracking showing delivery to the customer's verified address
- ☐ The date and time I fulfilled the order
- ☐ For Unrecognized only: what was bought, the name on the statement, my contact with the customer

Also check

- Look at the fraud analysis and payment details on the order page. Anything there that shows the real cardholder paid (for example address and security-code checks that matched, 3D Secure, an IP and country that fit the customer, earlier orders on the same card that were not disputed) belongs in the response, but only if your order page shows it.

Mistakes to avoid

- Sending only proof of delivery. It answers a different question from the one the bank is asking.
- Writing that the customer 'clearly authorized' the order when you only have a delivery record.
- Claiming a conversation took place by email or text when you only remember it. Attach it or leave it out.
- Missing the due date. Shopify sends the evidence it has on that date, and nothing can be added after it.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/fraudulent/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

2. Product not received

Reason shown on your chargeback: Product not received. The customer told their bank they did not receive what they bought.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the customer received the order. Your proof has to show delivery to the customer, not only that you shipped it.

Do first

- Get in touch with the customer first to find out what happened. If you resolve it, they should ask their bank to drop the chargeback, and you should include that in your response.
- Check the tracking. A tracking record that stops at in transit or label created does not support a delivery claim.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- ☐ Carrier tracking: carrier, tracking number and delivery status (matters most)
- ☐ Proof the parcel went to the address given at checkout (matters most)
- ☐ A signature or delivery photo (matters most)
- ☐ Delivery notifications sent to the customer
- ☐ A record of what the customer said, including any agreement to drop the dispute
- ☐ Digital product: an activity log showing the customer accessed it
- ☐ Digital product: the email with the download link or license key
- ☐ Service: booking records and proof the service was completed
- ☐ The date and time I fulfilled the order

Also check

- Check that the address the carrier delivered to matches the shipping address on the order. A mismatch weakens your case. If the carrier has a signature or a delivery photo, attach it.
- If the delivery date is after the dispute date, say so plainly, with the dates.
- Shopify says it will automatically upload a PDF of all fulfillment events on your behalf

Mistakes to avoid

- Writing 'delivered' when the tracking says it is still in transit. One merchant on Reddit described exactly this: the customer claimed not received while the parcel was still moving.
- Relying on 'left at the preferred drop-off location' with no photo or signature, as another merchant described.
- Attaching your return policy. It does not answer non-receipt.
- Inventing a delivery detail you do not have.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/product-not-received/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

3. Product unacceptable or not as described

Reason shown on your chargeback: Product unacceptable. The customer says what arrived was defective, damaged or not as you described it.

What the bank is deciding

Whether what the customer got matches what you sold and described, and whether they gave you a chance to put it right before going to the bank.

Do first

- Contact the customer. If you resolve it, they should ask their bank to drop the chargeback and you should send that agreement as evidence.
- Whether or not you resolve it, send your relevant evidence to the card company, including whether the customer tried to return the product or cancel before the chargeback, and whether you offered a replacement.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- ☐ The product listing as it was on the order date (screenshots or an archived copy) (matters most)
- ☐ Descriptions or pictures from my store showing it was as described (matters most)
- ☐ The customer's message describing the problem (matters most)
- ☐ Evidence the customer did not try to return or cancel first, or that I provided a replacement (matters most)
- ☐ My reply, with any replacement or refund I offered
- ☐ My return policy and process, showing the customer agreed to it
- ☐ Shipping and tracking information
- ☐ Pre-shipment photos, including packaging and serial numbers
- ☐ Quality control records
- ☐ Support ticket history
- ☐ Evidence the customer never contacted me before going to the bank

Also check

- Put the product page text and photos as they were on the order date next to the customer's complaint, so the comparison is easy to see. If the page has changed since, say so and use the version that applied then.

Mistakes to avoid

- Arguing about the customer's character instead of comparing the listing with the complaint.
- Attaching today's product page when the listing has changed since the order.
- Claiming the customer never contacted you when they did. Check your inbox and support tool first.
- Leaving out your return or replacement offer if you made one.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/product-unacceptable/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

4. Subscription canceled

Reason shown on your chargeback: Subscription canceled. The customer says you billed them for a subscription after it should have been canceled, or that they expected a reminder before the charge.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the customer canceled before the charge, and whether they were told how cancellation and billing work.

Do first

- Get in touch with the customer. You may be able to clear up a misunderstanding or reach an agreement. If you do, they should ask their bank to drop the chargeback, and you should send evidence of that conversation.
- If you charged the customer after they canceled, Shopify's help says you have to accept the chargeback.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- | |
|--|
| ☐ The subscription agreement: terms the customer accepted, including billing cycle and auto-renewal (matters most) |
| ☐ My cancellation policy (matters most) |
| ☐ An explanation of when and where the customer was shown the cancellation policy (matters most) |
| ☐ Cancellation records, or proof that no cancellation request exists (matters most) |
| ☐ Renewal reminders or receipts sent before the charge |
| ☐ Emails or notifications I sent about their cancellation |
| ☐ Digital product or service: usage logs showing they kept using it after the charge date |

Also check

- If the customer has more than one subscription or order with you, name the exact one that was charged, with dates, so the response cannot be mistaken for another one.

Mistakes to avoid

- Not saying which subscription the charge belongs to when the customer has more than one.
- Attaching a cancellation policy without showing where the customer saw it.
- Stating that no cancellation request was received without checking every channel (email, support tool, the app).
- Fighting a charge made after a real cancellation. Shopify's reasons article says you have to accept the chargeback in that case.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/subscription-canceled/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

5. Duplicate

Reason shown on your chargeback: Duplicate. The customer thinks you charged them twice for the same product or service.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the two charges were for two different things, or one thing billed twice.

Do first

- Check your orders and payments first. If you did charge the customer twice for the same product or service, Shopify's help says you have to accept the chargeback.
- If the two charges were for separate products or services, contact the customer and explain. If they agree, they should ask their bank to drop the chargeback.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- ☐ A plain explanation of why there are two charges (matters most)
- ☐ A receipt and fulfillment record for the first order (matters most)
- ☐ A receipt and fulfillment record for the second order (matters most)
- ☐ Receipts that prove the two charges were for different products or services (matters most)
- ☐ An order comparison: numbers, timestamps, items
- ☐ Transaction logs showing one charge, or several charges for separate orders
- ☐ A pre-authorization explanation, if one charge was a temporary hold that cleared
- ☐ A message to the customer about the two charges
- ☐ Refund confirmation, if a real duplicate was already refunded

Also check

- Put the two orders side by side: order numbers, dates, items, amounts, and the fulfillment record for each.

Mistakes to avoid

- Fighting a charge that really was taken twice.
- Sending one receipt when the dispute is about two charges. Show both.
- Leaving out how the customer ended up with two orders, for example a second order placed after the first was edited.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/duplicate/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>

6. Credit not processed

Reason shown on your chargeback: Credit not processed. The customer says they returned the product or canceled the order and never got their money back.

What the bank is deciding

Whether the customer was owed a refund, and if so whether you gave it before they went to the bank.

Do first

- Contact the customer. Shopify's help says you can't refund a chargeback after the chargeback process has started. For an inquiry where the funds have not been taken yet, it says a refund is possible but not recommended. You may be able to explain the situation or find another way to solve it.
- If you resolve it, the customer should ask their bank to drop the chargeback, and you send that agreement as evidence.

Evidence to gather (tick what you have)

- | |
|---|
| ☐ The refund transaction record: timestamps, amount, confirmation number (matters most) |
| ☐ Evidence I refunded the customer before the chargeback or inquiry was made (matters most) |
| ☐ My refund and return policy, with the terms the customer agreed to at checkout (matters most) |
| ☐ An explanation of why the customer was not entitled to a refund (matters most) |
| ☐ A bank or processor statement showing when the refund was processed |
| ☐ Messages with the customer about the refund |
| ☐ Return tracking, if a return is involved |

Also check

- If you did refund, attach the refund record with the date and amount. Refunds can take days to reach a customer's statement, so say when you issued it.

Mistakes to avoid

- Saying the customer was refunded without a record that shows the date and amount.
- Refunding again during an open chargeback. Shopify's help says you can't refund a chargeback after the process has started.
- Fighting when a refund really was owed and never paid. Accepting may be the right call.
- Describing a policy but not showing where the customer saw it.

Source: Shopify Help Center, read 4 October 2026: Reasons for a chargeback

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-reasons>), Responding to chargebacks

(<https://help.shopify.com/en/manual/payments/chargebacks/chargeback-process>). Use the due date shown on your own chargeback in the Shopify admin: some details depend on the card-issuing bank and the card network. Not legal advice, and no response can promise how a bank will decide. Not affiliated with Shopify Inc.

This checklist online: <https://proskillpacks.github.io/shopify/chargebacks/credit-not-processed/> | Free evidence picker:

<https://proskillpacks.github.io/tools/chargeback-evidence/>