A one-page quote

A one-page quote for a fixed-price design job

Subject: Quote [NUMBER]: logo and brand sheet

Quote [NUMBER] for [CLIENT]. Date: [DATE]. Valid until: [DATE].

The job: a logo and a one-page brand sheet for [BUSINESS].

Logo design, two concepts, two rounds of changes: £600

Brand sheet (colours, fonts, rules): £250

Total: £850

Not included: printing, a website, extra rounds of changes.

Start: [DATE]. Finish: about [NUMBER] weeks after I have your answers.

Payment: £[DEPOSIT] to start, the rest within [NUMBER] days of delivery.

To accept, reply "yes" to this email.

Hourly work, with a range and a cap

Subject: Quote [NUMBER]: [PROJECT], estimate and cap

I estimate [20] to [26] hours for [PROJECT]. At £[45] an hour that is £900 to £1,170. I will not go above £1,170 without asking you first. I will send my hours with each invoice. If you want a firmer number, I can quote a fixed price after [WHAT YOU NEED TO SEE].

A monthly retainer

Subject: Retainer quote: [SERVICE], per month

Each month I will give you [10] hours of [SERVICE] for £[50] an hour: £500 a month.

Unused hours [DO NOT / DO] carry over. Work beyond [10] hours is quoted first. Billed on the [DAY] of each month. Either of us can stop with [NUMBER] days' notice in writing.

Options, a cover email and what is not included

A quote with two options

Subject: Quote [NUMBER]: two options

Option A, basic: [WHAT IT INCLUDES], £400.

Option B, fuller: everything in A, plus [EXTRA], £650. I suggest B, because [REAL REASON].

Both are valid until [DATE]. To accept, reply "A" or "B".

The three-line email that goes with a quote

Subject: Quote for [PROJECT]

Hi [NAME], thank you for the details on [PROJECT]. My quote is attached: [ONE-LINE SUMMARY AND TOTAL]. It is valid until [DATE]. If anything is unclear, tell me and I will change it.

What is not included: a writing job

Not included: interviews, photos, posting to your site, more than [ONE] round of changes, any changes after sign-off.

What is not included: a design job

Not included: print costs, stock images or fonts that need a licence (quoted separately), more than [TWO] rounds of changes, adapting the design to other sizes.

What is not included: a web job

Not included: writing the text, photos, hosting, domain, updates after launch, any page beyond the [FIVE] listed.

Terms, changes and replies

Payment terms: four versions

Pick one. Deposit: £[AMOUNT] to start, the rest on delivery. Milestones: [30]% to start, [40]% at [MILESTONE], [30]% at the end. On delivery: the full amount within [NUMBER] days. Monthly: invoiced on the [DAY], due in [NUMBER] days.

The offer date and the way to accept

This quote is valid until [DATE]. To accept, reply "yes" to this email and I will send the deposit invoice. After [DATE] my price and dates may change.

A revised quote after the brief changes

Subject: Revised quote [NUMBER]: [PROJECT]

Thank you for the changes. Compared with quote [OLD NUMBER]: we have added [WHAT] (£[AMOUNT]) and removed [WHAT] (-£[AMOUNT]). The new total is £[TOTAL]. The finish date moves to [DATE]. Reply "yes" and I will start on the changed work.

When they ask "can you do it cheaper?"

I can lower the price if we lower what is in it. Without [ITEM] the total is £[AMOUNT]. I keep my rate the same so the work stays at the standard you saw. Which option would you like?

A follow-up three days after sending

Subject: Quote [NUMBER]: any questions?

Hi [NAME], my quote for [PROJECT] went to you on [DAY]. Would it help if I changed something or talked it through? I can hold [DATES] for you until [DATE]. [ADD IF TRUE: THE DATES ARE REALLY HELD.]

A quote with expenses listed apart

Subject: Quote [NUMBER]: [PROJECT] and expenses

Fee for the work: £800.

Expenses, at cost, receipts supplied: stock images £36, fonts £24, [TRAVEL IF ANY].

Total: £860 plus any travel. I will ask before any expense above £[AMOUNT]. Add VAT if you are registered.
