Four basic follow-ups

A short reminder

Subject: [SAME SUBJECT AS YOUR FIRST EMAIL]

Hi [FIRST NAME],

On [DAY] I wrote about [ONE-LINE REASON YOU CONTACTED THEM]. Inboxes fill up, so I am sending this once more.

Is this something [COMPANY] looks at, or should I ask someone else? Either answer helps.

[YOUR NAME]

Adding one useful thing

Subject: [SAME SUBJECT AS YOUR FIRST EMAIL]

Hi [FIRST NAME],

One more note on [TOPIC]. [ONE FACT, LINK OR EXAMPLE THAT YOU CAN BACK UP AND THAT RELATES TO THEIR WORK].

If it would help, I can send [WHAT YOU WOULD SEND]. If not, there is no need to reply.

[YOUR NAME]

Asking for the right person

Subject: Who looks after [AREA] at [COMPANY]?

Hi [FIRST NAME],

I may have written to the wrong person. I am looking for whoever handles [AREA] at [COMPANY]. Could you point me to them?

If it is you and the timing is wrong, say so and I will stop.

The last note

Subject: [SAME SUBJECT AS YOUR FIRST EMAIL]

Hi [FIRST NAME],

I have written twice about [TOPIC] and have not heard back, so I will stop here.

If [TOPIC] becomes a priority later, you can reach me at [EMAIL OR PHONE].

After a demo or a meeting

After a demo

Subject: Re: [DEMO TOPIC]

Hi [NAME],

I wanted to check that the demo on [DATE] gave you what you needed. The part I think matters most for [THEIR GOAL] is [ONE FEATURE]. If it would help, I can send a short recording of that part to share with [COLLEAGUE OR DECISION MAKER]. What would be the best next step for you?

After a meeting

Subject: Re: our meeting on [DATE]

Hi [NAME],

Thank you for your time on [DATE]. You mentioned [SOMETHING THEY SAID]. I have not heard back, so I wanted to check whether it is still a priority. If so, I suggest [NEXT STEP] on [DATE]. If the timing is wrong, tell me and I will check back in [MONTH].

Busy people and the second follow-up

To a busy executive: three lines

Subject: Re: [FIRST SUBJECT]

Hi [NAME],

I know your week is full. One question: is [THE ONE THING YOU OFFERED] worth a 15 minute call before [DATE]? A yes or no is enough.

[YOUR NAME]

The second follow-up

Subject: Re: [FIRST SUBJECT]

Hi [NAME],

I wrote on [DATE] and [DATE] about [TOPIC]. I know I may have missed the right moment. This time I have added [ONE NEW USEFUL THING, FOR EXAMPLE A SHORT CASE OR A NUMBER YOU CAN BACK UP]. If [TOPIC] is not for you, tell me and I will stop.

[YOUR NAME]

By LinkedIn message or text

Hi [NAME], I emailed you on [DATE] about [TOPIC] and wanted to make sure it did not get lost. I would value two minutes of your view on [ONE QUESTION]. If there is a better way to reach you, tell me. Thanks, [YOUR NAME]

After a proposal with a decision date

Subject: Re: proposal for [PROJECT]

Hi [NAME],

My proposal for [PROJECT] is valid until [DATE]. I have not heard back, so I wanted to ask if you need anything more from me to decide, such as [A DETAIL THEY MIGHT NEED]. If you have chosen another route, I understand, and a short reply would help me plan.
